TANFORAN FEATURES HAVE BROAD APPEAL

By J. W. MARCHBANK

I strained a point in making the added money to the Lassie Stakes at Tanforan the substantial sum of five thousand dollars and in all the years I plan to have it renewed I'll never go lower and in all probability will go higher. Everywhere in the world the attention of the best minds is focused on breeding and so every effort must be made right here at home in encouraging the rearing of the best type of the blood horse.

I may be pardoned—I know the fair play contingent will accord that little favor—if I repeat what I have said on other occasions: we must have plenty of foals at the farms of the country, not only in California, but throughout the nation, if racing is to be put on a level with that of the leading courses in the world.

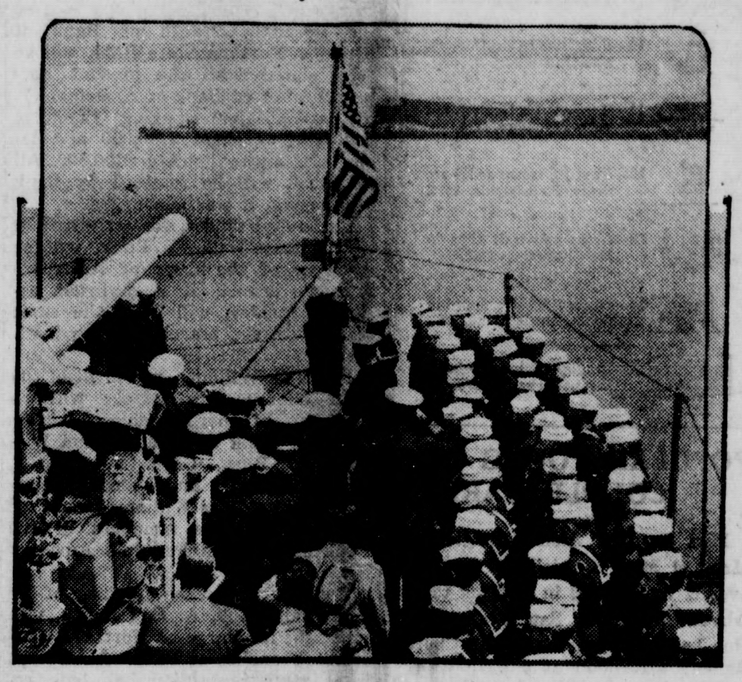
Nominations to the Lassie Stakes of 1935 were made last year. On August first of this year nominations for the renewal of the Lassie Stakes of 1937 will be made. These are the days when owners are looking over their foals with expert eye to determine on the fillies that may develop sufficient class to be dangerous in a race to be run two years later.

There is a glamor to a contest the eligibles to which are named far in advance to the running that does not attach to over night events. There is no telling how good a frisky little fellow scampering with his mother in a spacious paddock may turn out, and it is a thrill only a blood horse breeder can enjoy in watching the development of the colt into a winner of sweepstakes.

Even of more importance for the building up of Tanforan as a racing center of international character will be another race I have just announced, a produce stakes to be run for the first time in 1938. That is looking a long way ahead. But I found out long ago that we must plan for the future in order to save the racing game from degenerating into a merry-go-round of five and one-half furlong scrambles for the cheapest kind of performers. The Tanforan Futurity will be at one mile, a true test for both speed and stamina of young horses.

Nominations to the first running of the Tanforan Futurity, eligible to foals of 1936, promise to be truly representative. Everyone knows of the vast popularity of the Futurity in the East, now run at Belmont Park. It is universally acknowledged to be one of the greatest struggles for two year olds anywhere. It was first run as long ago as 1888 at Sheepshead Bay when Proctor Knott beat Salvator. The Tanforan Futurity may well enough become as famous as that other battle of the youngsters of the thoroughbred realm on the Atlantic side of the continent.

New Destroyer Is Commissioned



Scene at the Brooklyn navy yard as the United States flag was raised on the U. S. S. Dale after this newest destroyer was placed in commission. The vessel, of 1,500 tons displacement, 341 feet long and costing $4,000,000, was turned over to Commander William A. Corn.

EVEN BETTER TIMES FOR SILVER MINERS

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

Activity in silver mining in many sections is an indication the pendulum is swinging perceptibly in the right direction. Old fields and new are both receiving much attention from men well trained in searching for the white metal. A better price for silver is an important factor in the hooms.

In the far northern camp of Mayo in Yukon Territory things are humming. Mayo is said to be anticipating the day when $22,000,000 worth of ore will again be shipped out in a single year, as was done in 1932-33. Oldtimers are returning to Mayo in plane loads. Many mines closed down with the falling off in the price of silver are being reopened. In addition to the former well known Mayo men, a large number of newcomers have arrived at the town from Dawson and other places. Some come in by air and some by foot.

From Spokane comes word that Standard Silver-Lead Mining Company, which owns 51 per cent of the capital stock of Slocan Silver Mines Company, which in turn owns the McAllister dry silver mine, Carpenter Creek, Slocan district, will resume operations soon. The company derived dividends of over $45,000 during a short period of operation prior to 1930.

Two years ago the company took over the Jay Gould mine in Montana, erected a milling plant and is now said to be making regular profit.

In an editorial in a recent issue of The Alaska Weekly we read:

No amount of political palaver can alter the facts and the fact is that silver used as money is essential to world trade and that the ratio of production of silver and gold for the period of the last 100 years has been 11.4 to one which would be equivalent to $3.07 an ounce in ratio to gold at $35 an ounce. We are not predicting an immediate $3.00 silver but we are inclined to think that in spite of the efforts of international bankers and their political tools we will see silver at $1.29 in the very near future. The silver tide is now coming ing in with a roar but it has by no means reached its crest.

Dr. Victor Dolmage, formerly of the Geological Survey of the Dominion of Canada, when asked what is a mining prospect, said it is a mineral showing which has some promise of becoming a mine. He stated 90 per cent of the effort and ability of the engineer or geologist must be directed to two questions:

1. What are the chances of finding a million or more tons of profitable ore?
2. How best to go about getting it out.

The answer, according to Dolmage, is in the rocks and scientific methods must be applied.

The boom in the Cariboo continues. The gold commissioner at Barkerville has received more than $8000 in filing fees for placer locations since the first of the year.

It appears the resources of the greatest of the placer camps of Canada were only skimmed in the seventies. It is an historic gold region. Recently it has been noted for its quartz output.

TRANSACT IMPORTANT MATTERS AT FRIDAY COUNCIL MEETING

New Fire Department For Daly City Is Organized And Heads Named

The City Fathers of Daly City met in adjourned session, on Friday evening of last week, at the City Hall, with acting Mayor Sundermann presiding. All members answered roll call except Mayor Smith, who is still vacationing in the East.

A communication from Justice of the Peace W. H. Clay was read to the effect that, beginning July 1, he would avail himself of the use of the court room in the City Hall and would hear all cases there which originate in this end of the district.

A request for a permit to erect and maintain a service station on School street and Junipero Serra Boulevard was granted by unanimous vote of the council.

An opinion from the city attorney stated that the proposal for a bond issue for various civic improvements could be legally held in accordance with a new resolution prepared with reference thereto.

Following is the resolution:

Determining that the public interest and necessity demand the acquisition, construction and completion of each of the following municipal improvements of the City of Daly City, to-wit: (1) A public library, including lands, buildings, furniture, fixtures and equipment necessary for public library purposes, (2) public parks, including lands, structures, equipment and apparatus necessary or convenient for public park purposes, (3) City Hall, buildings or additions thereto, furniture, fixtures and apparatus necessary or convenient for City Hall purposes, (4) fire protection, including all lands, fire protection, including all lands, fire houses and stations, fire alarm systems, fire apparatus, fire hydrants, water mains for fire purposes and all other works, property, or structures and equipment necessary or convenient for fire protection purposes, and (5) a jail including all lands, buildings or additions thereto, furniture, fixtures and apparatus necessary or convenient for jail purposes, the cost of each of which municipal improvements is and will be too great

SONGS, COMEDY ROMANCE FILM STARS CROSBY

As the hero of Paramount's "Mississippi," coming to the Daly City Theater, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, July 7, 8 and 9, Bing Crosby plays the role of a romantic youth in the old South who sings, duels and charms the ladies with equal ease. Crosby is starred with W. C. Fields and Joan Bennett in this picture, adapted from the play by Booth Tarkington.

Crosby, when he first arrives in the South to claim the hand of his lady love, is disinclined to duel for her and naturally falls into disgrace with the entire family.

He joins Commodore Jackson's acting troupe, and, under the commodore's tutelage, develops into the river's most notorious gambler and most feared gunfighter.

"Mississippi," which was directed by Edward Sutherland, features Queenie Smith, star of the Broadway musical stage, in her film debut; and the Five Cabin Kids, John Miljan, Gali Patrick, Fred Kohler and Claude Gillingwater.

On the same program, "The Case of the Curious Bride, with Warren William and Margaret Lindsay.

GREAT PICNIC AND FINE TIME ASSURED

One of the grandest outdoor celebrations ever had by the poeple of this county is anticipated to be the lot of those who attend the annual picnic and frolic of the Daly City Merchants Association this year.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the general picnic committee, held on Friday evening of last week, many matters in connection with the outing were considered and discussed and the consensus of opinion of those attending was that the picnic this year bids fair to prove more enjoyable to the participants than any ever held.

After a lengthy discussion of the various phases of arrangements, the subcommittees were appointed as follows:

Parade: All members of the City Council of Daly City.

Band and transportation: F. T. Mather and W. E. Pitschke.

Refreshments: Vireno, Pavlos, Bartoli, Sardelli.

Games and prizes: Callsen, Bodien and Chief of Police Doyle.

Committees to contact merchants—For the County Line: Mather and Downall; for "Top of the Hill": Weld, Ruggeri, Williamson and Pavlos; for Colma: Bertini and Peterson.

Printing and publicity: Williamson, Vireno and Pavlos.

Further members will be named and new committees formed, notice of which will be published later.

In the meantime, bear in mind the date and place: Sunday, August 11, 1935, at Oak Cove Park. Hold this date open and prepare to have one of the best times at an outdoor affair you have ever experienced.

BOARD FAVORS NEW ADDITION TO COURT-HOUSE

Ballot May Be Held Same Date As Special Election On State Amendments

At the meeting of the County Board of Supervisors this week Supervisor Al Witt of Daly City declared himself whole-heartedly in favor of holding the election to secure the public's expression on the courthouse wing project.

Success for the project is foreseen because the county would be asked to raise but $99,000 on a bond issue to go with the $81,000 federal gift to make the addition possible.

Need for the addition is recognized because of the crowded conditions in the courthouse and the rental at a cost of $4000 yearly of outside offices.

The board requested District Attorney Gilbert Ferrell to work out the legal procedure for holding the election on August 13 when the special state ballot on constitutional amendments is held.

County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman informed the board that precincts within cities could be consolidated to decrease the number from 203 to 150, so that a saving of several thousand dollars could be effected in case the election is held on the same date as the state ballot is taken.

Supervisor Witt moved and Supervisor Poole seconded the motion referring the question of consolidating the election to District Attorney Ferrell.

COUNTY PLEDGES AID IN BUILDING LIVE STOCK EXPO

Supervisors Insist On Proper Division Of Work Before Definite Amount Is Decided Upon

Discussion of the county's participation in the construction of the million-dollar Livestock Exposition building in Visitacion valley lasting more than an hour and a half, and complants against the present county ordinance on fireworks featured the meeting of the Board of Supervisors in Redwood City on Monday.

In the matter of the exposition building, the supervisors again declared their willingness to participate in the expense distribution if a proportionate percentage of labor from this county were granted, but did not definitely set the amount of money that will be contributed or the manner in which payments will be made.

Attorney W. H. Morrissey, Redwood City, representing the board of directors of the livestock exposition here, urged the county's participation because of the danger that the entrance to the pavilion might be placed in San Francisco county and many visitors to San Mateo County would be cut off. The site straddles the two counties at Visitacion Valley.

Approval of the county's participation came only after lengthy debate, during which time most of the members of the board stood opposed to approving $37,500 at this time as the county's share.

Supervisor Albert Witt of Daly City brought the matter to a head when he said that failure of the county to participate would shut the door to San Mateo County labor participation and, he declared, "there would be the devil to pay if that happened."

Witt then moved the board go on record as favoring participation in the setup as proposed without commiting itself to pay any specific

FORMER DALY CITY YOUTH DIES IN WATER

Boy Fisherman Drowned In Accident In South San Francisco Creek

What was to have been a happy afternoon outing turned into a tragedy in South San Francisco last Sunday when one member of a family was drowned and two others narrowly escaped death in the waters of Edgehill Creek.

The dead youth was Edward Lee Flowers, 14, of 235 Armour street, South San Francisco. Edward was fishing with his two brothers, Wilson, 12, and Peter, 10.

The trio were fishing from a home made raft. A net which they were using dropped overboard into the water. Edward dove in to retrieve the net and was apparently seized with cramps and sank, as he shouted to his brothers for help. Pete tried to swim to the lad's rescue, but was in danger of drowning when his brother Wilson seized him and dragged him to shallow water.

The two boys ran to their home nearby to secure help from their parents. An alarm was sent to the chief of police. Meanwhile the South San Francisco Emergency Hospital was notified and responded.

Dr. Robert Ayers of that institution arrived simultaneously with the police department inhalator squad. Dr. Ayers dove in the water and after some time recovered the body of the unconscious youth. The physician directed the work of the inhalator crew, but they were unable to restore the feeble spark of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Flowers, with their children, resided on Frankfort street in Daly City for several years prior to three years ago.

Eddie was a student in both the General Pershing and the Crocker schools in this city.

The funeral was conducted from a South San Francisco undertaking establishment Wednesday afternoon of this week.

TOWNSEND CLUB OF DALY CITY TO MEET

Arrangements have been made to hold a meeting of the Daly City Townsend Club at the Daly City Hall on July 12, at which the Hon. Frank Rutherford will speak on the Townsend Plan for national recovery.

Cards will be mailed to each of the present membership, but, in order to publicize the meeting further, Mr. P. G. Selmi, president of the local Townsend Club, asks all who are interested and are owners of machines to get in communication with him so that a parade through the streets of Daly City can be held the evening before the meeting, July 11, to advertise the affair. He asks that you address your letter to P. G. Selmi, Daly City Hall, Daly City, stating that you have a machine and will participate in the parade, or that you will help in any other way to make this meeting a success.

The offical by-laws of the Townsend organization state that election of officers shall take place the first meeting in July of each year. It will therefore be necessary to adopt the by-laws of the national organization and then proceed to elect officers, which will be the principal order of business of this meeting.

NEW ERA CO-OP INC HOLDS OPEN MEET

The next regular meeting of the New Era Co-Op. Inc. Association will be open to the public.

Arrangements have been made to have Dr. L. Raymond Holmes as the speaker for the evening. Dr. Holmes is an authority on Co-operatives, and his wide knowledge on this subject will be a very interesting lecture for anyone to hear.

The meeting will be held in the council chambers of the Daly City Hall on this Friday evening.

The membership is asked to be present and to help make this meeting a success by asking their neighbors and friends to also attend.

VETERAN FIREMEN TO HOLD PICNIC

The members of the board of directors of the Daly City Veteran Firemen's Association are busy making arrangements for the annual picnic to be held in Valdemar Park on Sunday, August 25.

They have decided to have conveyances leave the "top of the hill" every two hours for members and friends who do not possess machines.

Announce Opening

It has been announced that the doors of the Villa Health Clinic will be opened to the public on Monday morning next, July 8, from 8 until 11 o'clock. The institution is located at Vale and Werner streets, Daly City, and it is said complete medical and surgical services in all branches will be available.

The deceased is survived by the following relatives: A husband, Bainbridge Jarvis; a daughter, Mrs. Lucy Podesta; Mrs. Daisy Sheau, a granddaughter, and two great grand children, Constance and Norman Sheau.

Mrs. Jarvis was a life member of the California Rebekah Lodge No. 1.

Funeral services were held in the mortuary chapel of W. C. Lassewell & Co. on Tuesday morning of this week at 10:30 o'clock. Interment took place at Fort Bragg.

ANOTHER FISH STORY

After fishing in the same stream for several days Wesley Cowles of Winstead, Conn., landed the fish which had swallowed his lost ring.

SALINAS RODEO FEATURES HIGH SCHOOL LASSIES

Explain Characteristics Of Girls Chosen To Enter "Perfect Type" Test

She is 16 years old, five feet four and one-half inches tall, weighs 122 pounds, and most likely has brown hair—that's the composite girl in the California Outdoor High School Girl Contest.

This imaginary girl embodies the characteristics of the 41 chosen by as many counties of California as representative in the contest to be held at the California Rodeo and Horse Fair at Salinas, July 18 to 21.

Three quarters of the girls live in the country, and most of them are seniors in high school. All are proficient in horsemanship, and they represent the highest 17 per cent of their classes in scholarship. They excel in volley ball, golf, swimming, archery, tennis and baseball.

The 41 chosen are representative of over 300 high schools. The winner of the contest and her mother will receive a free trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

Candidates thus far and the counties they represent are as follows:

Corrine Brown, 15 years old, Alameda county; Roberta Hayes, 16, Butte County; Ova Marie Wilkerson, 18, Contra Costa county; Jane Lyon, 14, El Dorado county; Lucille Gray, 17, Fresno county, Martha Compton, 15, Glenn county; Elizabeth Tagg, 18, Imperial county; Leona Shellenbarger, 17, Inyo county; Dorothy May Wilson, 17, Kings county; Margaret Trabert, 17, Lassen county; Marnie Seibert, 15, Los Angeles county; Betty O'Neil, 16 ,Madera county; Jean Thornton, 14, Mendicino county; Norma Matthews, 16, Modoc county; Georgia Jane Fanoe, 15, Monterey county; Barbara Rowland, 17, Orange county; Jane Ammon, 17, Placer county; Wilma Heying, 18, Riverside county; Jeanne Claire Godshall, 15, San Bernardino county; Beverly Pracey, 17, San Francisco county; Gladys Kleck, 15, San Luis Obispo county; Marybeth Pike, 15, San Mateo county; Mabel Forsythe, 16, Santa Barbara county; Nellie Knoch, 17, Shasta county; Anne Gurnette, 17, Solano county; Dorothy Rourke, 17, Trinity county; Imogene Warren, 15, Tulare county; Mary Elizabeth Beach, 15, Ventura county; Margaret Elaine Looper, 17, Sutter-Yuba county; Agnes Crowley, 16, Humboldt county; Dorothy Nash, 16, Kern county; Carol Holmes, 17, Napa county; Antoinnette Landsborough, 16, Sacramento county; Nora Earle Gholston, 17, San Diego; Beatrice Noll, 16, Santa Clara county; Pauline Hontou, 17, Sonoma county; Ramona Muriel George, 17, Stanislaus county; Nancy Rossitter, 17, San Joaquin county; Frances Schilling, 16, Mariposa county.

WEEKLY BULLETIN

By Chief A. P. Chesney

The reorganization of the Daly City Fire Department took effect on Friday, June 27, at a special adjourned meeting of the City Council.

All of the officers and members of the old department were reappointed without any changes, with the exception of an additional commissioner which the ordinance called for, that being chairman of the fire committee of the council who will act as chairman of the Fire Commissioners.

The personnel of the department will be found in another section of The Record.

The reorganization was taken as a step to increase the efficiency of the department.

Under the old regime the men governed themselves by electing the commissioners, who in turn appointed the officers of the department. This gave them no tie in with the City Council.

Under the new ordinance the City Council has jurisdiction over the department and it classes the members as city employees in that way bringing the responsibility to the City Council, who are elected by the people for that purpose. The majority of the personnel think it is a step towards a better and more efficient fire department.

The department has been annoyed lately by some petty theives siphoning gasoline out of the tanks of the various apparatus. One of the stations had put a lock on the tank, but the miscreant had pried the lock off and stolen the gas.

Would like the citizens residing near any of the fire houses to please call the police department at once if they see any suspicious characters in or around any of the stations.

VISIT RELATIVE

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McDonough and son Richard of Winchester street, motored to San Jose, Wednesday of this week, where they visited Mrs. McDonough's mother, Mrs. Anna Brittel.

Barbara McDonough returned home with her parents after spending the past three weeks visiting her grandmother.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED

Miss Pauline Aiello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Aiello of San Jose avenue was united in wedlock to Mr. Alfred Sculco of San Francisco at Our Lady of Perpetural Help Church, Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, Rev. Father Doyle performing the ceremony.

The bride, who was gowned in white satin with a tulle veil edged in lace, carried an old fashioned bouquet of gardenias, bovardias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Catherine Aiello, sister of the bridge, was maid of honor and the Misses Gertrude Sculco, niece of the groom, and Lena Anselmi were the bride's maids. The attendants all wore white taffeta gowns with hats to match and also carried old fashioned bouquets. The maid of honor bouquet was made of pink roses and white sweet peas and the bridesmaids' of American beauty roses.

Mr. Frank Sculco was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Mr. Paul Ormando and Mr. John Vallalunga.

A dinner was given in honor of the young couple preceding the services, at the home of the bride's parents for the members of the immediate families.

After the services a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Sculco, in San Francisco, for about 300 guests.

After a honeymoon motor trip, to be spent in Santa Cruz, the young couple will make their home at 6159 Mission street.

BANK OF AMERICA BUYS BRANCHES

Purchase by Bank of America of two Northern California banks with total resources approximating $1,000,000 was announced today by L. M. Giannini, president.

Russ-Williams Banking Company Ferndale has been purchased and effective and is now being operated as the Ferndale Branch of Bank of America. Fortuna State Bank will be consolidated with the present Fortuna Branch of Bank of America.

Russ-Williams Banking Company has total of about $750,000 and deposits of approximately $600,000. All personnel will be retained by Bank of America, it was announced.

Rollin S. Feenaty, formerly cashier of the Russ-Williams Bank, will be manager of the Bank of America's Ferndale branch. R. A. Grinsell, assistant cashier, will have the same office with the branch banking institution.

Frank G. Williams, president of the Russ-Williams orgaization, will be chairman of the Ferndale Advisory Board of Bank of America, and William N. Russ, Chris P. Hansen, George M. Brice and Feenaty, members o fthe Russ-Williams board of directors, will be members of the Bank of America Ferndale Advisory Board.

Commenting on the purchase of the FFerndale bank, A. E. Connick, vice president in charge of Northern California Branches of Bank of America, said: "Our institution has long recognized the Ferndale section as one of the most productive dairying and stock raising sections of the state. This opportunity of establishing a branch at Ferdale, through association with the stockholders and personnel of the Russ-Williams Banking Company, has fulfilled a long-cherished desire of Mr. Gianni to provide this area with metropolitan banking service."

The Fortuna State Bank, which will become a part of Bank of America's Fortuna branch, has total resources of approximiately a quarter of a million dollars. William Dunn, secretary of the Fortuna Bank, will become a member of the staff of Bank of America. Fortuna branch.

FARM TEAMS TO COMPETE IN STATE FAIR PULLING TEST

Old Dobbin will come into his own when the California State Fair opens on August 31. He will claim some of the spotlight which has played exclusively on the pampered aristocrats of the race track.

The farm team pulling contest, a prime sports event on state fair programs a generation ago, will be revived this year with completely modern fixings.

When grandpa was a boy, the teams were hitched to the "stone boat", a heavy sled loaded with boulders, and fought it out for first place while the grandstands cheered with football frenzy.

But this year the horses will pull on a scientific machine, built at the Ames Agricultural College in Iowa, which registers their strength down to the last ounce. Faculty members of the University Farm at Davis will score results as carefully as is done at a college track meet.

The comeback of the farm horses within the past few years is one thing responsible for reviving this former State Fair feature.

BRIDE AND GROOM HONORED AT PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardella of Whittier street entertained at a dinner party, Thursday evening of last week in honor of a recent bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. James Skinner.

The table das prettily decorated in pink and white with a center piece of white stock and fern. The favors for each guest were a tiny bride and groom.

After dinner dancing was enjoyed by the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. James Skinner of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. I. Lindenlaum, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Garguilo, Miss Mary Ann Garguilo, Miss Margaret Gardella of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. R. McDonough of Daly City.

VISITORS ARRIVE

Mr .and Mrs. Henry Priziborowski of Santa Barbara avenue have as their house guests Mrs. Priziborowski's father, Mr. Charles Stark and his daughter, Miss Lillian, and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Snaverly and daughter Marilyn of Sauk Rapids, Minn. The party arrived in Daly City on Saturday by motor and expect to remain here indefinitely.

BOMB SHATTERS OFFICER'S HAND

On Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock, misfortune struck sharply at Officer Ed Heim of the local Police Department.

While holding a bomb firecracker in his hand it prematurely exploded, causing serious injury to the member.

The injured man was rushed to the Villa Sanatorium for treatment. On examination, it was found that the left hand was so badly shattered that amputation of the member would be necessary.

The wounded officer was transferred to St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco, where Dr. Mitchell of the Villa Sanatorium performed the operation. At latest reports Mr. Heim was reported to be resting easily. The injured man has a host of friends, who all join in sympathy in his affliction.

SYNOPSIS

Following his father's bitter criticism of his idle life, and the withdrawal of financial assistance, Hal Ireland, only son of a wealthy banker, finds himself practically without funds but with the promise of a situation in San Francisco, which city he must reach, from New York, within a definite time limit. He takes passage with a cross-country auto party on a "share expense" basis. With five other members of the party, an attractive girl, Barry Trafford; middle-aged Giles Kerrigan; Sister Anastasia, a nun; and an individual whom he instinctively dislikes, Martin Crack, he starts his journey. Barry's reticence annoys him. To Kerrigan he takes at once.

That faint visit of ominousness was finished now, with every one awake, crampedly stretching and resettling. Or was it finished? Had it simply returned to its hiding, to wait again? A silly thought. What could there be ominous in this shabby car, except the way Miller drove?

The flat strap of concrete curved, dipped and ran on into Pennsylvania and found the steel cities. Mrs. Pulsipher gave the impression of knowing it was a conspiracy—entered into by her husband, among others—that kept them from reaching Harrisburg while the visibility was good. John halfheartedly tried to get her to admit that the bridge lights, contained in glass stars, were beautiful; but she wouldn't. Her voice, as she asked Kerrigan what river this was, rang grim in familiarity with martyrdom. And her "Oh," when he told her it was the Susquehanna, implied she might tomorrow find out it had been the Tiber or the Yang-tze, and she robbed of the glamor.

Something was at work clearing the moody sluggishness from Hal's head. A drifting sense of loneliness, of melancholy that had seemed to belong with the broad river slowly mourning the sunset, ran away out of his spirit. He was, after all, a human being—with faculties compactly contained in a fit and useful body, and with rights to his own character. He was on his way to California, to a job, and to the confusion of his father.

Sullenness was nonsense, wasteful nonsense; premonition was nonsense. What could happen that he didn't want to have happen? Why make a whole fertile week blank by wanting nothing to happen, by ignoring his power to make things happen? His father had said Hal didn't know people, among other things—among almost all other things; well, he would arrive on the coast knowing at least seven and ready to dare the Old Man to believe any two of them.

He thought vividly of the Trafford girl behind him—her eyes, though he couldn't see them now, still solemnly absorbed in their own defensive continence. Far, far worse luck there could have been than this of catching a car that carried anyone so well favored, so challenging in looks as well as in manner. He smiled at thought of the challenge—undesigned, perhaps, but still a challenge. Prouder manners than that had been altered, and with less incentive. Look out, you blue-and-gold vixen; it makes me mad to be made mad, and I shall keep books on you from now on.

But Kerrigan first—for himself, for the character disguised under that scholarly remotenss of his brown eyes; and for the Trafford girl's proprietorship in him, her air almost of implying that they knew each other already. Careful, Ireland; first thing you know you'll be glad you've come.

"Kinda thought we'd put up at Harrisburg tonight," said Miller sleepily, his eyes sightless on the dim headlight beams that revealed curves barely in time.

"Harrisburg?" said Mrs. Pulsipher in quick suspicion; and Crack, shyly knowing, said: "We went through Harrisburg a half hour ago, bud."

Miller chuckled as if at something clever and turned to Kerrigan, his unshaven face sleepily pleased in the light from the dashboard. "Is that right?" he said.

"Yes," said Kerrigan.

Miller chuckled. "That's a good one," he said, and Hal shouted a sharp "Hey" at him as the white posts of a curve came filing swiftly at the front end. Miller returned his look to the road and pulled the wheel hard, but without apparent concern.

"It'll be another place up the road," he said. "Kinda like to see a garridge I likes the looks of. Get m'valves fixed."

He looked aside again, grinning; Kerrigan took the stubbly chin in his hand and turned it frontward. "Look where you're going, like a dear old party," he muttered. "I'll find you a factory, if you'll only watch where you're going."

"Thanks," said Hal with a laugh.

"Think nothing of it," said Kerrigan. "Pleasure."

"If you can keep those eyes, or whatever they are, turned ahead, I might still be young when we get to the Coast."

"S'pose he'd let you drive?" said Kerrigan.

"Doubt it," said Hal.

Pulsipher snapped his fingers as if he'd just remembered something. "Huhu-hungry," he said.

"So'm I," said Mrs. Pulsipher. "We ought to stop for supper."

"Let's say the next town," said Kerrigan.

"Yes," said Mrs. Pulsipher.

"Awful hungry," said John.

So as they entered the next place, there were hopeful stirrings and estimates of the degree of civilization shown by the buildings.

"There, whirlwind," Kerrigan said to Miller. "A garage for princes. All white inside, and a mechanic in a white monkey-suit. You'll like it there and they'll like you."

In another moment a spasm seized Pulsipher, shooting out his arm and making him cry, "Whoa! Eat, it says: look, that sign. Eat."

"It looks clean," said Mrs. Pulsipher mistrustfully.

"Clean's a horse-chestnut shell, ma'am," said Kerrigan. "Shall we try it?"

"Yes yes yes," said Pulsipher quickly, so that no one could beat him with doubts.

They got out stiffly. The ladies and Pulsipher went in. Hal and Kerrigan stayed to hear the momentous plan in ferment behind Miller's bleary eyes, with Crack leaning quietly against the car to listen.

"Y'see," said Miller, "it's mountains on the road pretty soon and it'd be kinda nice to get them valves fixed 'fore we get to 'em."

"Good idea," said Kerrigan, "A kitty. And so?"

"Well," said Miller, chuckling at having figured it out by himself, "why don't I go back to that garridge and kinda look around and see what it looks like while you folks start eatin'? Then if I like the looks and the price is right, I'll leave her there and we can put up in this place."

He ground the gears portentously, and the car lumbered up on the opposite curb as he turned around. By tacit consent they watched him go slowly down the street. When he turned into the garage at the far end of it, they moved to the lunchroom door.

The ladies had disappeared. Pulsipher stood at the cashier's desk choosing a cigar from the box the proprietor offered him. The proprietor, a decent little body with a wide grin, one misdirected eye, and a birdlike desire to please, nodded welcome as they came in.

"Come far today?"

"Noo York city," said Pulsifer proudly.

"Noo York city," the man repeated with polite interest. "Touring folks, 'ey?" He looked pleasantly at Kerrigan.

"Traveling folks," said Kerrigan, his rich voice gentle and friendly. "Share-expense."

"Ohhhh," said the man, deeply impressed, even a little worried. "And you say your driver's outside? Ain't he going to eat."

"He's gone down to that garage at the end of town to see about repairs," said Kerrigan. "Have you got a good hotel here—cheap?"

"Why, yes, yes—I guess so," said the proprietor. He looked at Pulsifer, around at the others, and back at Kerrigan. "Say," he went on diffidently, "I don't like to butt into you folks' business, but—but has this feller got your grips an' all with him?"

"Yes," said Crack, his indolence pierced by direct interest; "and our fares to California."

There was a moment of silence, and the proprietor's attention sharpened on Kerrigan. "Well," he said, "you folks are probably all right, but they was a party like you—what d'ye call it—share-expense? They was a party over Lewistown way got hung up by a feller't went to get some repairs. They never did see him again. An' the Chambera Commerce had to chip in to get a couple of 'em back t'Noo York."

Kerrigan looked round at Hal in grave inquiry. In the newly empty silence, Hal felt Barry's eyes on him and he turned to her, ready to mock any share she took in this apprehension. But she had no share in it. Her look, full at him, was warm and secure in scorn, without sympathy or appeal; and the faint, untaunting smile at her closed lips said fearlessly, This will happen for all of you: your luggage and your money don't matter; and if yours don't, why should these other peoples'—to you? Without haste, her eyes confirmed his unimportance and turned away.

He swung around toward the door—the thing having happened so quickly that the silence of awe was still fresh on the others. "I'll go," he said to Kerrigan. And without the faintest notion of what he would do—only an angry urgency in him to do something—he posted out by the screen door and helped it slam hard behind him. One way or another, you—whatever you are—you'll pay for all this.

Miller's mind was too much drugged with chronic sleepiness and stupidity to think of running out with car, luggage, and fares. But just suppose some habit of crookedness were channeled through his stupidity. Suppose—Hal looked more sharply at the glare of lights and his step brightened. D—n the girl. The scoring for today was surely on her side. Tomorrow was another day. Hal's gray eyes stirred with merriment. To find his way past those solemn defenses of hers would be a zestful job; to chasten that clear, willful cussedness amounted to a necessity now, a duty as well as a pleasure.

Hal was walking out with decision when he cleared the last building. And there in the white light of the yard stood the long-suffering car with its corded bale of luggage behind. Hal gave a laugh, half relief, half triumph. It would be fun to press that into her steady blue eyes when he got back.

Through the plate glass of the office he could see Miller talking to a man in a white monkey-suit. Something in Miller's attitude was different; not precisely an alertness, but the sleepy suggestion of interest, of purpose almost. If I go, Hal thought, she'll say my coming made him change his mind; if I just stand here watching, he can get away as clean as if I were back there eating the dinner for which my system decorously calls.

He stood another moment trying to define the change in Miller's listless posture. Then he walked carefully over gravel to the car, carefully opened the door—his eyes watchful of the office—and climbed into the tonneau. On the floor behind the jump-seat there was room in which to lie curled and hidden.

It was faintly exciting—like a time Hal remembered when he had listened behind a curtain in the dining room while his governess told the butler how she would punish him for being late to his supper. And what a fine ass he'd look if Miller found him there.

There were voices soon, and the crunch of gravel under slow feet. "I kinda thought," Miller was saying, "it was some purty good hills over there, but I jus' didn't remember where they begun." He chuckled in sleepy cleverness.

"Well, good night," said another voice; and Miller said, "Sure."

The car tipped creaking toward one running board, the door slammed, and Miller's short, contemplative breathing sounded close overhead. Hal steeled himself to be touched, but then there was the hard catch and churning of the starter. A lurch over the curb confused his judgment of the direction in which Miller turned. But quickly the car was in high, and running fast; it was the open road under them, and Hal's breath stood still for a suspended instant of dismay.

Then he was good and angry—anger flooding his joints and his purpose with warm lubricant. By G—d, their best clothes, probably, and their money—snatched from them by this animal, this drugged ape! As he raised himself from the floor, Hal had a savage wonder whether Kerrigan would like to fill the hole in his collection of experience by killing Miller.

His next act suggested itself as glibly as if he'd done this sort of thing often. He doubled his right forefinger and, kneeling on one of the jump seats, leaned forward and pushed the knuckle against Miller's ribs. Miller didn't start or tremble or look around, but the car began wearily to slow down.

"Pull up to the side," Hal said, disgust flattening out the anger in his voice.

Miller obeyed—gently, as if he had been chauffeur to old ladies.

"Now," said Hal, "I want your wallet with all the money, your license, and your registration." Miller's futile fingers took out the fat, shabby wallet and spread its compartments to show everything. Hal put it into an inside pocket and took his knuckle from Miller's ribs.

"Slide into the other seat," said Hal. Miller obeyed, with a strange, sleepy air of gratitude. Hal stepped out of the tonneau and got into the front without looking at Miller's face.

"Ever been in jail?" Hal asked him as the car started.

"Yes," said Miller, very low.

"Want to go again?"

"No," said Miller.

Hal ran past a farm road, backed the car into it, and swung out on the highway again toward the town. Miller parted his lips with a sticky sound and cleared his throat.

"I was jus' takin' her up the road to kinda try out an' see . . ."

"Don't speak unless you're spoken to," said Hal quietly. "Get it?"

"Yes," Miller whispered.

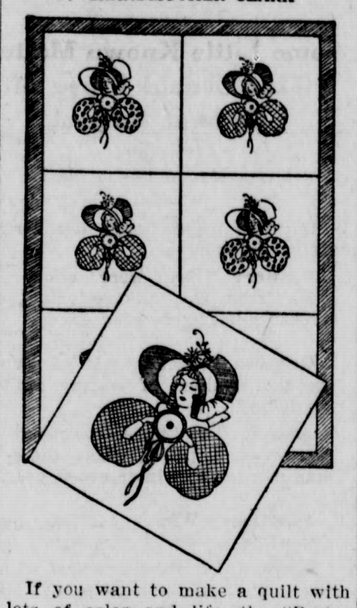
Soft rubber usually is vulcanized with 5 per cent or less of sulphur, whereas in hard rubber as much as 50 per cent sulphur may be used.

COLOR AND LIFE IN "POSTER GIRL"

By GRANDMOTHER CLARK



If you want to make a quilt with lots of color and life, the "Poster Girl" will be your selection. The quilt shown above is made from block number 95-A, which is one of the six different girls in which this assortment comes. Make the quilt either by using all the blocks of one design or assorted. The blocks are stamped on white 18-inch squares, and the applique material is stamped with the necessary designs and cutting lines. Twelve 18-inch blocks are generally used for one quilt. With twelve 18-inch blocks, 4-inch strips between blocks and a 9-inch border all around, allowing ¼ inch for seams, the finished quilt will measure about 77 by 98 inches. Four yards of 36-inch material is sufficient for border and strips.

Send 15 cents to our quilt department for one block No. 95-A like the above. Make this up. You will like the beauty of design and can then decide what designs you want. A picture of the six designs will be mailed with your order, from which to select. Price per set of six stamped blocks with applique patches 75c postpaid.

Pimples Completely Gone

After Using Cuticura Soap and Ointment

"My face broke out with pimples that came from surface irritation and were quite large. It itched and burned and at night would itch so badly I would scratch, and the pimples finally turned into eruptions. My face was disfigured for the time being; I looked as if I had the measles.

"Then I read about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I got great results so I bought more, and I used only two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and the pimples were completely gone." (Signed) Miss Mayme Michelsen, Weeping Water, Neb.

LOWER COST PER TON MILE

DUE TO FIRESTONE EXTRA CONSTRUCTION FEATURES

QUESTION No. 1—"Will the non-skid tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"

ANSWER—The patented construction feature of two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread makes it possible for Firestone to use a wider, flatter tread with higher shoulders, that puts more rubber on the road. This, combined with the scientific non-skid design, gives greatest non-skid safety and traction ever known.

QUESTION No. 2—"Is the tire body protected against destructive internal heat, the chief cause of premature tire failure?"

ANSWER—Every cord in Firestone Tires is soaked and saturated in pure, liquid rubber by the patented Gum-Dipping process. This process, not used in any other tire, soaks every cotton cord and insulates every strand, preventing internal friction and heat, giving extra strength, longer life, greater dependability.

QUESTION No. 3—"Will the tread give me long wear at today's higher speeds?"

ANSWER—A new and tougher tread compound developed by Firestone gives you longer wear at lower cost per mile, even at today's higher speeds.

Call on the Firestone Service Store or Firestone Tire Dealer in your community today. Let him tell you about the exclusive construction features of Firestone Truck and Bus Tires which will give you lower operating costs and greater safety.

GRAND SCALE GOLD SURVEY IS OFF TO GOOD START

Numerous Parties Are Being Placed In Field Under The Gordon Plan

The grand-scale geological survey advanced by Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Mines at Ottawa, and providing for an expenditure of $1,000,000 for the examination of mineral and oil-bearing structures of the Canadian North ,is rapidly getting parties into the field. Announcement was recently made by Gordon that seven parties already were assigned to Ontario, six of which will work in goldbearing areas and the seventh in the oil and gas areas of Western Ontario.

In addition, Dr. H. S. Bostock, who will supervise the work in the Yukon, has gone to the coast and Dr. Fred Jolliffe who will have charge of reconnaissance in the Yellowknife River area, north of Great Slave Lake, has left Edmonton for his objective. Among other parties starting out at once are those of Dr. C. S. Evans and Dr. J. S. Steward to undertake work for the extension of oil and gas areas in Western Ontario.

In addition numerous parties are being organized and many geologists have been engaged to head parties or sub-parties.

Details concerning areas selected in Ontario for field work in connection with the intensified geological survey program, to be carried out this summer, have been announced by Gordon. The parties allotted to work in Ontario will focus their attention mainly on formations of rocks favorable to prospecting for gold. One of the projects takes in an area adjoining a former silver-producing region, southwest of Fort William and Port Arthur, and there will be field studies in southwestern Ontario aimed at determining possible extensions of natural gas and petroleum bearing structures there.

The areas of the province in which the Geological Survey will concentrate its forces have been decided upon after consultation with the Ontario Department of Mines. Subject to one or two possible changes, the areas selected for examination include some part, or parts, of each mining district of Northern Ontario, the most easterly area being on the headwaters of the Montreal River and the most westerly between Red Lake and Woman Lake. The geogolists in charge of parties are being instructed to trace rock formations favorable for gold depositions and to outline and report upon areas worthy of the prospectors attention. Where mineral discoveries have been reported the deposits will be examined but there will be no actual prospecting, this activity being left entirely to private enterprise.

The production in Ontario last year of $71,000,000 worth of gold involved using up in the gold industry alone some 6,500,000 tons of ore, or 900,000 tons more than in the previous year.

The maintenance of production and employment requires that there must be no let up in the search for new sources of ore and in arranging the present geological program areas have been selected that are conveniently situated for economic development.

Lying between previously-mapped regions at Red Lake and Woman Lake, an area of about 2500 square miles extending north to the Berens River and unknown geologically will be examined for extensions of the favorable host rocks, comprising Keewatins, volcanics and associated sediments, in which the new gold mines of the region are being developed. Southeast of Woman Lake and north of Sioux Lookout and Hudson, an area of similar character, centered along the Paponga River and comprising 1,500 square miles, will be investigated. On the Attawapiskat River a large area not even mapped geographically will be the subject of a geological reconnaissance because of favorable rocks for gold found in the vicinity of Fort Hope and which extend along the Albany River into the unmapped territory.

Further east there will be a large undertaking in the geological examination and mapping of rock outcrops in a section of the clay belt which lies north of Oba and extends to Hearst and Kapuskasing.

About 5,000 square miles are included in the selected area and a number of sub-parties will be required in the painstaking search for rock outcrops to discover the prospecting possibilities of this district where promising rocks for gold deposition are known to occur along some of the water routes, notably the Missinaibi River.

Also in connection with ascertaining gold prospecting possibilities, an area of 500 square miles on the headwaters of the Montreal River has been included in the projects and 1500 square miles on the Aux Sables River, west of Sudbury, an area that is a blank so far as geological knowledge is concerned. Promising formations for gold are known to intersect the margins of both areas.

The silver area is centered about 30 miles southwest of Port Arthur and Fort William, and extends to the International boundary at the Pigeon River. This district, immediately south of a well known former silver producing area, is known to have a number of veins of the silver-bearing type. The purpose of the investigation is to assemble such geological information as may be of assistance either in tracing the extension of known deposits or in guiding the search for new discoveries.

Organization plans, Gordon states, are well advanced and field parties will have all seven Northern Ontario projects in hand shortly, also the natural gas and petroleum investigation in the district about London. The significance of natural gas in helping to solve Ontario's fuel problem is shown by an annual production averaging aboue $4,500,000. Since the beginning of the records, natural gas has contributed $95,000,000 to Ontario's mineral wealth and petroleum $31,500,500. Any extension of petroleum production which may come about as a result of the investigation would have special importance in view of the strategic position this mineral occupies in modern affairs and of the Dominion's importation of $41,000,000 worth of its products last year.—Reprinted from "Gold."

LESSON SERMON OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"There is none holy as the Lord: for there is none beside thee: neither is there any rock like our God." These words from I Samuel comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, July 7, in all Churches of Christ-Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "God." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself" (Mark 12: 29-31 to period).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The first demand of this Science is, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me.' This me is Spirit. Therefore the command means this: Thou shalt have on intelligence, no life, no substance, no truth, no love, but that which is spiritual. The second is like unto it, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself'" (p. 467).

License Tag Visibility

Motor vehicle authorities have paid considerable attention in recent years to the design of license plates from the standpoint of improving their visibility.

That should be the motorist's cue to follow up their work by seeing that the tags on his vehicle are cleaned periodically. It is a second offense that can be added to the major charge on which many a motorist is arrested, police records testify.

PISTONS DRAW OIL

When compression is being used as a brake the pistons of a motor are apt to draw oil up into the combustion chamber if the throttle is in closed position.

Using a lower gear and feeding the motor a little fuel to maintain a normal rate of speed will reduce oil consumption materially. The ignition should never be shut off while using compression to retard the car.

SOME QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Some Little Known Matters That Should Prove of General Interest

(By Maude Larue Ives)

Question: What were the earliest artificial lamps?

Answer: They were sticks set ablaze from the caveman's fire, and torches made from pine knots.

Question: What people of Europe are the smallest of stature on that continent?

Answer: The Lapps from the bleak country of Lapland, where there are nine months of winter every year.

Question: Where is the Snake River?

Answer: Iit is the principal river in Idaho. It flows for a distance of nearly 600 miles through a deep canyon. Here can be seen the Shoshone Falls, where the river, 950 feet in width, makes asudden plunge of 212 feet, greater than that of Niagara.

Question: What is an idiom?

Answer: An idiom, or idiomatic phrase, is an expression whose implied meaning is different from the literal meaning of its parts. For example, "They put up with grave injustice," instead of saying: "They tolerate grave injustice."

Question: Why was Andrew Johnson, president of the United States, impeached in 1868?

Answer: For violating the Tenure of Office Act, for corrupt use of the veto power, interference at elections and other high crimes and misdemeanors.

An impeachment is an accusation only, presented in legal form, and it does not necessarily imply that the accused is guilty. Thirty-five senators voted Johnson guilty, nineteen declared for his acquittal. The votes lacked one of a sufficient number to convict and he was therefore acquitted.

NO MOONSHINE HERE

When an indignant taxpayer of Trenton, N. J., complained of finding tadpoles in his bath water, Commissioner Swan suggested that the objects complained of might have been pieces of rubber washers. Madder than ever, the taxpayer roared: "Pieces of rubber don't swim, and they don't dart away when you try to catch them." Mr. Swan promised to investigate.

STORY OF JULY

Summer is here in full maturity and the air is alive with the hum of insects, while butterflies hover over wayside flowers. Many of our loveliest flowers are in their prime; the roses are still in bloom and the popies, dahlias, sweet peas and nasturtiums are looking their best. There is another flower which is very useful to the farmer, and, were it not so common, how we would admire its spikes of red or pink blossoms! It is a native of both Europe and America and is now cultivated in other countries as well. This is our common red clover.

Mr. Bumble Bee is getting so much sweetness from the clover that when we say we are "living in clover" we mean the height of luxury and plenty. This bee has a deep, loud br-r-rum-ing hum. It possesses the most painful sting of all the bees. It is well known in most parts of the world, particularly in temperate regions and in the northern hemisphere, and often reaches the Arctic Circle. This boisterous fellow resembles the little honey bee, but is much larger and its body is thick and very hairy. The workers sting severely; being wild and not cared for as is the honey bee, bumblebees need their weapon of self-defense, for mice and many larger animals destory their nests and steal their honey and brood. Boys, too, who delight in honey plunder, are often stung in spite of their efforts to defend themselves.

Under the ground, in deserted nests of mice, in hollow trees or in openings in rocks, bumble bees live in small colonies of 50 to 200; where half of the bees are workers or neuters and the rest females and females. They are not so orderly and perfect in their family life as are the honey bees, as may be seen in the roundish, oval, scattered cells of different sizes found in a single nest. They collect honey and store it in the old cells. During the winter the queen bee sleeps beneath leaves or moses. In the early spring she awakens and immediately gathers a store of old honey and pollen, in which she lays eight or ten eggs. As the eggs hatch, the larvae eat the surrounding food, and grow rapidly. When fully grown they spin a silken wall about themselves which the old bees strengthen by a layer of wax and in these cells the early broods develop into workers. Later broods poduce females and males, and eggs lad after the last of July produce the large females or queens. These undergo hibernation during the next winter.

The bumble bee is useful. It aids in the cross-pollination of plants and is the only insect which can fertilize the red clover. The Australians imported large quantities of clover for fodder and also because it gives nitrogen to the soil. However, the bumble bee was left behind so the next year there was no clover for planting and no crop could be raised until bumble bees were introduced.

In this busy, bustling month of July, there are so many phases of plant and animal life to study, so much of interest to fill many a vacation hour.

NEW WIPER LOCATION

What is the advantage of locating windshield wiper blades at the bottom of the glass rather than the top, the latter the formerly universal practice?

The answer is that when the stroke of the blade is dowward, the water is removed from the glass, not lifted to a position from which it subsequently drips to obscure the driver's vision.

CARE OF BRAKES

Regardless of the type, kind or make of brake used on a car, it is well to oil all operating parts regularly, even if it is just a matter of putting a few drops of oil on the threads of the adjustment nuts or on the anchor pins.

This will greatly simplify the work of adjusting the brakes or of removing the bands for relining.

EVERYTHING ROLLS

HOME BASEBALL TEAM NOW HOLDS LEAD IN LEAGUE

Beats Bear Photos On High School Field In Torrid Contest—To Play In Burlingame Next

(By Al Gould)

The home team went into the indisputable lead in the second half of the Peninsula league, by defeating the scrappy Bear Photo nine on the Jefferson diamond, Sunday afternoon by the score of 4 to 0.

Matty Sullivan, local mound ace, allowed the visitors four scattered hits and gave to Johnny Maretti's boys their first white-wash during the league's existence.

Harry Maloney, the league's leading slugger, was the outstanding star of the game. In three trips to the plate, Harry connected for two triples, scoring two runs and driving one across the plate. Johnny Vasquez, the league's shortstop supreme, closely follows Maloney in this division. In two trips at bat, he gets a single and a sacrifice fly, scoring one run and driving two across the plate.

Kirby, Carrasco and Dinneen, continue their brilliant fielding, while Albrecht, the local center garden flyhawk returned to the lineup and thrilled the fans with remarkable catches.

The play by play report will furnish the brilliant highlights of the game.

FIRST INNING

Bear Photo—Ortega fanned. Deas out Carrasco to Dinneen. Petroplis flied to Dinneen. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Daly City—Kirby out Flynn to Coronel. Carrasco singled to right. Maloney tripled to deep right center, scoring Carrasco. Vasquez singled to left, scoring Maloney. Nelder singled over second, sending Vasquez to third. Dinneen at bat. Nelder steals second and Vasquez steals home, on a remarkable double steal. Dinneen popped to Hatley. Albrecht out Hatley to Coronel. Four hits, three runs, no errors.

SECOND INNING

Bear Photo—Farrell credited with a singled on his hot liner to Vasquez. Flynn fanned. Angelo flied to Albrecht, who made a brilliant catch while on the dead run, over his shoulder. Coronel out Sullivan to Dinneen. One hit, no runs, no errors.

Daly City—Kondeff flied to Petroplis. Sullivan flied to Petroplis. Kirby gave Petroplis the third out by flying to the same territory. No hits, no runs, no errors.

THIRD INNING

Bear Photo—Navarett walked. Hatley forced Navarett at second, Vasquez to Carrasco. Ortega singled to left; Hatly out at third on the play, Maloney to Kirby. Deas at bat. Ortega stole second. Deas out Carrasco to Dinneen. One hit, no runs, no errors.

Daly City—Carrasco popped to Coronel. Maloney tripled to deep center. Vasquez flied to Ortega, Maloney scoring after the catch. Nelder flied to Ortega. One hit, no runs, no errors.

FOURTH INNING

Bear Photo—Petroplis flied to Albrecht. Farrell out Vasquez to Dinneen. Flynn out Kirby to Dinneen. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Daly City—Dinneen singled over second. Albrecht forced Dinneen at second, Deas to Flynn. Kondeff forced Albrecht at second, Deas to Flynn. Sullivan out, Farrell to Coronel. One hit, no runs, no errors.

FIFTH INNING

Bear Photo—Angelo fanned. Coronel flied to Maloney. Navarett flied to Albrecht. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Daly Cty—Kirby fanned. Carrasco walked. Maloney at bat. Carrasco stole second. Maloney flied to Petroplis, Carrasco taking third after the catch. Vasquez walked. Nelder flied to Ortega. No hits, no runs, no errors.

SIXTH INNING

Bear Photo—Hatley fanned. Ortega fanned. Deas singled to center Petroplis singled through the infield. Farrell flied to Carrasco. Two hits, no runs, no errors.

Second Baseman Flynn began a dispute with umpire Burns over calling a strike on his team-mate Ortega. Burns ordered him to his position, after which Flynn, accompanied by outfielder Angelo started to push Umpire Burns around with force. Burns promptly banished both players from the game. Manager Martin of the local team, requested Burns to allow both players to return to the game, so that the fans could witness the balance of the game. Burns conceded to Manager Martin's request, but at this stage of the dispute, Manager Maretti of the Bear Photo team, called his players from the field and refused to continue.

In the opinion of the writer, Manager Maretti knowing that his boys had no chance to defeat the local nine, took the easiest way out and quit.

HAPPENINGS HERE ELEVEN YEARS AGO

Some Items Gleaned From Copies Of The Record Of Decade Ago

Mrs. A. Gowland and Miss Daisy Gowland are planning a holiday in Mill Valley.

Captain Fred W. Winter has been trasnferred to Seattle and will leave shortly to take up his new duties.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. A. Rickmann and Miss Frances will leave tomorrow for a two weeks' vacation at Clear Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Urquhart of San Diego are spending a few days with their son, J. Urquhart, on Los Olives avenue. They are on their way to Seattle.

Edward Lorentzen, who for the last month has been in the mountains near Ukiah, to regain his health, is greatly improved, and expects to be back to work in another month.

Mayor H. H. Smith has gone to the country over the Fourth, taking two of his daughters with him. Mrs. Smith and Hughie, Junior, and Edna have been out camping for the last ten days.

The Native Sons of El Carmelo Parlor had a most successful picnic at Lovchen Gardens last Sunday. This was their first picnic and the result will probably be that the affair will be an annual event.

TOO HEAVY GREASE

Grease that is too heavy will not properly lubricate the gears in the rear end of the car.

This is particularly true in cold weather. When the grease is cold and heavy the gears will simply cut a path through it, causing it to pile up against the sides of the gear case.

SMOKE GIVES CLUE

A clue to what is wrong with a motor may be found in the colors of the smoke that issues from the exhaust pipe.

If it is black, the meaning is too much gas. Blue or white smoke indicates an excess of oil in the engine; if gray, it is likely produced by a combination of too much oil and too much gas.

DEPEND ON CAPE TO SLENDERIZE

PATTERN 2227

The smart stout knows tight-fitting clothes only emphasize one's generous proportions, so she very wisely depends on capes to equalize proportions! The scalloped edge of this one lends welcome variety. Just to prove there isn't a slenderizing feature that's been overlooked, the dress adopts a surplice closing in a sweeping manner that makes the bust quite inconspicuous! The V shaped front skirt yoke and straight panels are in league to help "slim you down!" If you select a print-silk or cotton—be sure it's a small design. A big design would undo most all the good work we've done for you!

Pattern 2227 is available in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 takes 3⅞ yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

SEND FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address, and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Address orders to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

JUST PALS

"Jackson and Williams had a terrible row last night at the club," said Wilson.

His companion looked surprised.

"That's strange," he said. "I thought those two were inseparable."

"They were," said Wilson; "it took six of us to drag them apart."

Those Party Platforms

"A party platform is a mighty important consideration," said one statesman.

"Yes," replied the other, "a party platform in politics is a good deal like a bunker in golf. The rules require it, but you show your skill in avoiding it."

Long-Winded

Doctor—Now take a deep breath and say nine, three times.

THAT'S SOMETHING

"How do you like your hotel, Blanche?"

"Oh, fine! The rooms are small and dark, and the food is badly cooked; but the gossip is excellent."

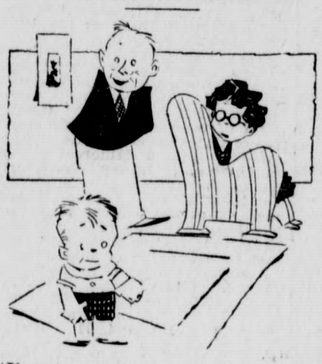
OBJECTION NOTED

Waiter—Dat guy I just waited on insulted me wid a nickel.

Head Waiter—Wot did ye do?

Waiter—I accepted it with indignashun.

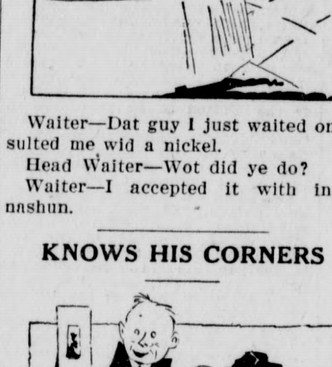
KNOWS HIS CORNERS



"Jimmy, your ma tells me you told several falsehoods today."

"Well, by the time I get a wife of me own, I wanna be able to put 'em over better'n you do on ma."

YOU'RE NEXT



Percy—Do you think your sister would kiss me if I asked her to?

Little Bobby—She might. She kisses her Pekinese pup.

OUCH!

He—I'm going to see a mind reader.

She—You'll be there such a short time, I hardly think it worth while.

OH, MERCY!

Sunday School Teacher—Tommy, what do you know about Eve and the serpent?

Tommy—Eve got stung.

Obviously

"My poor husband was a wonderful artist," sighed the landlady as she hacked at the pie crust, "and always said he found inspiration in my cooking."

"A sculptor, I presume," said the gloomy boarder, surveying his bent fork.

CALIFORNIA
News of the Week

Along with word that Washington has ordered the deportation of James Branch, San Francisco communist school director, comes the news that Santa Ana legionnaires are planning to organize a Minute Men group, who will carry on an aggressive campaign of education and information, particularly in agricultural areas, where communists and radical agitators are especially active.

With Atty.-Gen. U. S. present to direct the state's prosecution forces, the trial to oust Gavin W. Craig from his office of justice of the District Court of Appeals got under way last week in a Los Angeles Superior Court. Judge Jones, Lake County jurist, is hearing the case. First defense move was made by Attorney Daniel M. Hunsaker, who claimed Craig, as justice, could only be removed by State Senate impeachment, a joint resolution of the Legislature, or by recall. The accused was recently convicted on conspiracy charges.

California's share of Federal works program appropriations for the next 12 months will be about $200,000,000, declared Frank Y. McLaughlin, SERA administrator, on his return from Washington last week.

Seated in a smaller wheel inside a large one, Walter Nilsson, 39, made Los Angeles gape as he piloted his "unicycle" through the city streets recently. The strange invention is a one-wheeled motorcycle, a secret device making the large wheel lean and thereby turn.

With the approval by Governor Frank Merriam of the jobless insurance bill, California will have a state system of unemployment insurance, if and when a national plan is adopted. Under the state bill, employe and employer would contribute to a fund from which unemployed would receive benefits of between $7 and $15 weekly.

A state-wide liquor ring, extending north to Eureka and south to Los Angeles and involving 60 individuals and firms already, is being rounded up after 13 months of investigation by alcohol tax unit agents of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Fifty-seven illicit still operators have been indicted secretly by the Los Angeles Federal grand jury. James H. Maloney, acting district liquor tax supervisor, said the syndicate operates illegal stills in every section of the state.

Max Reinhardt of Berlin and Hollywood had to go to Reno to get married. Five minutes after being divorced from Elsa Heims Reinhardt, he married Helene Kalbeck-Thimig, former German actress. A European honeymoon ensues.

With state and Federal taxes mounting almost with every tick of the clock, taxpayers were glad to hear an economic chirp from Sacramento when Governor Merriam signed the Wright bill, extending for two years the limitations on city, county and state expenditures. The measure provides that no government unit can increase expenditures more than 5 per cent of the previous year budget total.

"I shot in self-defense," said Charles A. Browne, Shasta County, on trial at Redding for the murder of Raymond McArthur, the man who stole his third wife, Helene. The killing took place during a thunderstorm at Mrs. Browne's ranch, where Browne had gone to get "some mail and some insurance policies." He said he took a shotgun with him because McArthur had threatened his life. At the ranch McArthur drew a gun and Browne fired at him, according to the testimony.

Los Angeles inspectors, police, insurance sleuths and jewelers spent considerable time recently checking fine rugs, silver, furs, diamonds and jewelry valued at $60,000, and looted from wealthy southern California homes. This was part of the $200,000 worth of goods stolen by W. N. Deutsch and wife and "fenced" by Daniel Mercer, special bank policeman.

Eight men, arrested in Eureka's lumber strike riots in which two have been killed, have been held to answer to the Superior Court after preliminary hearings on rioting charges. Defending the eight men was Leo Gallagher, defense lawyer at the recent criminal syndicalism communist trial at Sacramento.

Forty-eight-passenger Martin planes, a third larger than the Pan-American Clipper, will carry passengers from Manila to Alameda airport, beginning September, announces V. E. Chenea, general traffic manager, Pan-American Airways, who recently arrived in San Francisco after a 24,000-mile inspection tour of the company's routes. Fare will be under $1000.

California's new 3 per cent sales tax, as approved by Legislature, governor and the Board of Equalization, has the following rates: From 15 to 49 cents, 1 cent tax; 50 to 83 cents, 2 cents tax; 84 cents to $1.16, 3 cents tax; $1.17 to $1.49, 4 cents tax; $1.50 to $1.83, 5 cents, and so on.

FEW HERDS SEEN ON OLD TRAILS

"Longhorns" Shouldered Out by Woolly Flocks.

The western trail herds have not passed, but today they are sheep and not cattle, with numbers driven regularly exceeding the count of the most famous trails.

It's a faux pas, of course, to mention sheep and cattle in one breath (to a cattleman), but the former still are featured in big drives—in fact the business of sheep driving has grown, while cattle are moved by rail.

It's largely a matter of very simple business.

Cattle lose weight when driven cross-country. Cows are valuable not by the hoof, but by the beefsteak, with thick steaks bringing more money. The money crop of sheep is their wool, which can't be walked away.

So today some 300,000 complaining "woolies" are taking the long trek from southern pastures in and about the Salt river valley to northern Arizona, where they will wait out the summer at high altitudes whose ranges are not withered by the desert sun.

The business of trail driving has become a big industry. The government sets aside regular strips for sheep to follow as they go north and as they return south. Some make a round trip of 400 miles.

Trails followed are as old as the industry. They are picked originally because of advantages of feed and water, and once set by custom, received governmental sanction. Homesteading or scrip purchase of land in the sheep "strips" is forbidden.

The oldest of them recently blossomed out with a shiny new suspension bridge, which sheep weekly cross to avoid wetness and possible quicksand of the Salt river below.

Following the drives demands alertness and sacrifice of herders. Mountain lions are not a myth, but are plentiful in parts of the sheep range. Wild dog packs are a menace in the Salt River valley, and may kill scores in a night's bloody orgy. Coyotes are present everywhere, vigilant to take stragglers.

PRIZE WINNING COMEDY OPENS AT GEARY MONDAY

Alex Yokel's production "Three Men On a Horse," the outstanding New York comedy success by John Cecil Holm and George Abbott, expertly staged by Mr. Abbott, is proving the greatest stage attraction of this decade.

Now the current comedy success in both New York and Chicago and London and Australia companies in the offing, Mr. Yokel is sending direct from New York a splendid company of funsters to open in this grand comedy a limited engagement at the Geary, beginning Monday night, July 8.

Imagine a meek, downtrodden, little worm of a greeting card poet who has an unfailing genius for picking winners in a horse race, and you imagine the bright idiocy which makes "Three Men On a Horse" one of the funniest comedies ever written. The catch is that the poet never bets. To him that would spoil the whole point of the thing. You must do it, he contends, just for fun.

The play begins when Erwin Trowbridge has a quarrel at home and leaves in a huff. Erwin stumbles into a bar at the Lavillere Hotel—seeking to drown his sorrow in drink — he meets up with Charley, Frankie and Patsie. And when they discover he is a veritable race track prophet, things happen so fast that even Erwin gets dizzy. Charley, Frankie and Patsie are down to their last $12 and decide to adopt Erwin. They feed him liquor to make him forget the office. They put him to bed so he can make some selections in the morning. They copy his verses so he can get them to his office by the Mothers Day dead-line and they finally escort him home when they discover that he can't dope the horses unless he is ridding on a bus.

Of course this is only scratching service—Erwin's wife notifies the police of his disappearance, and his boss threatens a libel a suit.

It's one of those riotious old-fashioned farces that enables you to sit back and roar when the inevitable happens.

Mr. Yokel has selected an outstanding cast of Broadway players including Persy Kilbride, Sheldon Leonard, Elaine Temple, Gordon Rhodes, Edward Craven, Frank Otto, Muriel Campbell, Edward Nannery, Robert Griffith, Albert Webster, J. Albert Moss, Marjorie Crossland, May Murray, Gloria Blondell and others.

The production was staged by George Abbott and the settings were designed by Boris Aronson.

WONDERS HAVE BEEN PERFORMED

Modern science has worked wonders of late years in improving both living and working conditions throughout the country by the invention of mechanical devices that, variously, save labor, insure comfort and promote efficiency. At the present season of the year, particularly among dwellers in the sun-scorched valleys that stretch from north to south of our state, the device that bids fair to attract the greatest degree of public attention is that called "air-conditioning."

The device referred to "conditions" the atmosphere in any building or room by removing from it all objectionable particles such as dust, dirt or smoke, adding moisture or removing excess moisture as required, deodorizing the air and keeping it in continuous motion without creating drafts. It not only tempers the atmosphere of a room in summer so as to provide a current of cool, refreshing air but, also, it renders equally important service in winter by moistening and warming the air without subjecting the inhabitant to the risk of injury to health too often caused by over-heating.

Air-conditioning by scientific process was developed into a practical accomplishment about a decade ago and since that time it has been growing in public favor. It is proving a priceless boon to the toiler in office building, factory, department store, business establishment of whatever kind. In summer, for instance, when efficiency is lowered and work lags in an atmosphere of excessive heat, air-conditioning ,through its contribution to the health and comfort of employes, helps to maintain a high level of efficiency regardless of what the outside atmospheric conditions may be. Furthermore, just as the best lighted and otherwise most attractive business establishment is the most likely to attract prospective purchasers, so, in an atmosphere of health-giving comfort can business transactions of all kinds be carried on to the best advantage, with sales increases as a natural result.

In recent years great progress has been made in scientific air-conditioning and, also, in its diversified application. Today, for instance, most trans-continental trains are equipped with air-conditioned cars. And now the idea of including the domestic establishment within the range of its beneficial operations has taken hold and installations suitable to home or apartment use have been perfected.

Air-conditioning equipments are electrically operated and controlled. They are among the many electrical improvements whose installation may be financed under the terms of the National Housing Act. With regard to such increases in monthly electric bills as their operation may entail, the electrical companies are meeting the situation half-way by an offer of 50 per cent reduction upon any amount in which a consumer's electric bill for one month exceeds his bill for the corresponding month of the previous year in the same location.

FAREWELL PARTY

Mrs. H. Remington, Mrs. H. Bertin, Mrs. R. Kreutzberg, Mrs. H. Manager, and several members of Galbraith Auxiliary No. 818, V. F. W., assembled at Mrs. S. Palmer's home to honor Mrs. E. Maasberg with a farewell party, as she is taking a year's leave for a trip to the Eastern coast and Canada.

CLEAN BEARINGS

Front wheel bearings should be removed, cleaned thoroughly and repacked with special bearing grease every 5000 miles.

Forcing regular cup grease into the hubs without removing the wheels usually causes the old grease to work onto the brake bands, resulting in ineffective brakes. Care should be used when replacing wheels to avoid bearing damage by incorrect adjustment

Causes Short Circuit

A dirty and gummed distributor cap, coated inside and out, may cause a short circuit in the ignition.

STATE FAIR AGAIN OFFERS HALF PRICE ADMISSION TICKETS

Visitors who buy their State Fair admission tickets in advance will again receive the benefit of 50 per cent savings on the price of seeing the sights during the ten days of festivities beginning in Sacramento on August 31.

When the State Fair board eliminated free passes, two years ago, half-price script books were placed on sale and proved instantly popular with patrons. First year sales were $37,000 and last year the total jumped 25 per cent to $50,000.

Junior farmers throughout the state have also been appointed special sales agents for the fair in their respective communities.

A sales contest open to members of Future Farmer Chapters and 4-H Clubs will give these organizations an opportunity to win valuable prizes for use in carrying on their educational activities.

COLMA GIRL WEDS

Miss Ida Pellicci, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pellicci of Colma, became the bride of Mr. Dominic Lucchesi of San Francisco on Sunday afternoon.

The ceremony took place at Saints Peter and Paul Church in San Francisco in the presence of a large number of friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her white satin gown fashioned on long flowing lines with a circular train and over this floated the bride's veil of tulle. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, lilies of the valley and orange blossoms.

Miss Minnie Quilci, maid of honor, wore a colored net dress with a matching picture hat and a bouquet of roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Yvonne Stefinelli, wore a yellow net dress with a matching hat and a bouquet of roses.

Mr. Enrico Pellicci, brother of the bride, was best man.

Mr. Bernard Menichucci was an usher.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding supper at the Lido Cafe in San Francisco for 45 guests.

A reception was held at Colombo Hall in Colma for many friends and relatives. The happy couple received many lovely gifts.

On their return, after honeymooning in the south, the popular couple will reside in the Eureka district in San Francisco.

DALY CITY COUNCIL FRIDAY MEETING

New Fire Department For Daly City Is Organized And Heads Named

to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said city.

BE IT RESOLVED by the Council of the City of Daly City as follows:

1. That the public interest and necessity demand the acquisition, construction and completion of the following municipal improvements of the City of Daly City and each of them, to-wit: (1) a public library, including lands, buildings, furniture, fixtures and equipment necessary for public library purposes, (2) public parks, including lands, structures, equipment and apparatus necessary or convenient for public park purposes, (3) city hall, buildings or additions thereto, furniture, fixtures and apparatus necessary or convenient for city hall purposes, (4) fire protection, including all lands, fire houses and stations, fire alarm systems, fire apparatus, fire hydrants, water mains for fire purposes and all other works, property, or structures and equipment necessary or convenient for fire protection purposes, and (5) a jail including all lands, buildings or additions thereto, furniture, fixtures and apparatus necessary or convenient for jail purposes.

2. That said municipal improvements are and each of them is necessary and convenient to carry out the objects, purposes and powers of said city.

3. That the cost of said municipal improvements and each of them is and will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said city.

At this juncture a motion was made and the council voted to rescind a resolution covering this subject which had been passed sometime previously, but which, the city attorney stated, was not satisfactory or valid from a legal standpoint.

After stressing the urgent need of passage of the proposed bond measure the new resolution was introduced by Councilman Sundermann, who moved its adoption by the council. The favorable vote was unanimous.

Chairman Fahy of the ordinance committee recommended that the city attorney be instructed to prepare a resolution to amend the zoning ordinance to permit establishment of a school store opposite the Crocker institution on Bellvue avenue. The recommendation was concurred in and the official so instructed.

Organization of the Fire Department as provided by the recently adopted Ordinance No. 190 was then considered. Applications read from 71 members of the present department and these received favorable consideration by the council.

A Board of Fire Commissioners of seven was then appointed, The members who had previously served on the board were named, as follows: L. Shaw, P. Forsell, G. R. Augustien, J. Soares, G. Felsch and A. Gaggero. Councilman P. Selmi, by virtue of his office as chairman of the fire committee of the council is also a member of the board and will act as chairman.

The members of the board as now constituted are to serve from June 27, 1935, to June 30, 1936. Thereafter the term will run from June 30 to June June 30 of the following year.

A. N. Lang was chosen secretary of the board.

Other appointments were: Fire Chief, Andrew P. Chesney; assistant Chiefs, F. Hansen, District No. 1; A. J. Bodien, District No. 2, and A. Silicani, District No. 3; Fire Marshal, J. Fields.

The council requested the Board of Fire Commissioners to hold a meeting immediately following adjournment of the council session in order to comply with section 5 of the ordinance.

The city clerk was instructed to notify the secretary of each company to file all applications in the order in which same had been received in the various companies.

Acting Mayor Sundermann highly commended the members of the Board of Fire Commissioners, the officers and all members of the department for their loyal and efficient service in the past.

amount toward the proposition until a later date. The motion was seconded by Supervisor Walter High and carried unanimously.

The board appeared in accord that the 15-year-old firecracker ordinance should be revised between now and next year and the effort should be made to secure the co-operation of all cities in its uniform enforcement throughout the county.

Proposal to turn the Lobitas creek bridge construction into a SERA project was voted when it was declared the county will save at least $2000 by taking it out of individual hands.

The board was informed by the city attorney of South San Francisco that the county must pay 90 per cent of the cost of correcting the Colma creek flood conditions. He said the latter city's responsibility amounts to the remaining 10 per cent.

The district attorney, county executive and the board as a whole will join the assessor in attendance at a meeting of the state board of equalization within the next few weeks to see that the county's interests are safeguarded in equalizing values of non-operative property.

Resolution of intention to form a Burlingame Hills sewer maintenance district for the rural community's participation in the Burlingame municipal sewer project was adopted.
